NEW PRESIDENT FOR FRANCE TOPIC IN PARIS QUARTERS

Parliament Said to Be Ready to Take Up New Election Problem.

BY WILLIAM E. NASH.
By Cable to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920.

PARIS, July 13.—From an important personage close to Premier Millerand the writer learns that the French parliament has decided definitely to take up the problem of the election of a new president of the republic. During the month of August a special meeting of both houses will be called at Versailles, and in the meantime a delegation representing every shade of political opinion intends to inform President Deschanel that he must resign, and do so with good grace.

"The present incumbent of the presidency," said the writer's informant, "is shown that he is not able to fill the requirements of the office. After his breakdown he was given three months in which to convalesce. They seem to have done him no good. The test of his recovery was to be his ability to preside at the ceremony of July 14, Bastille day, and the national holiday of France. Now it is announced that he cannot preside.

Paris is a Failure. Moreover, his visit to Paris during the first days of July proved a dismal failure. By a friend of mine, who saw him, I was told that his malady has actually grown worse. He dreads crowds and public functions and ceremonies. That alone is enough to incapacitate a man for the French presidency. In addition, however, he has fits of loss of memory and he believes that the world is trying to ruin him. He is convinced that he has been kept in ignorance of matters of political importance and that he has been treated in an entirely unbecoming fashion. In short, the condition of the president of the French republic has reached a point that cannot be tolerated longer by the French people."

Heretofore friends of President Deschanel have made efforts to encourage him and he has resisted strenuously the idea of his removal from office. In this he has been supported vigorously by his wife, who is reputed to be one of the most ambitious women in Paris. Now, however, even the intimate of Deschanel's supporters see that the case is hopeless. It is now only a question as to the manner of his removal by resignation or dismissal. When he goes his friends must resign themselves to the loss of some good political jobs.

Discuss Deschanel's Successor. The principal topic of conversation in the lobbies of the chamber is Deschanel's probable successor. Premier Millerand could have the position for the asking, but he prefers to remain in power in his present office. There he can exercise far more influence on the affairs of the nation than he could from the Elysee Palace. If M. Millerand persists in his refusal, as he has done thus far, there are plenty of other possible candidates. M. Jonhart, a former governor of Algeria, and M. Pams, a member of the Clemenceau cabinet, have been talked of in connection with the presidency of France as much as has Bryan in connection with the presidency of the United States. Raoul Perot, president of the chamber of deputies, and M. Barthou, former premier, would have good chances if they would advance their names. As a dark horse, Gen. DeCastelnau, a military hero, and a popular deputy, might be elected.

LEGION OFFICERS TO AID MURDER SUSPECT HUNT

Attorney Pleads to Defer Death Sentence of Husband in Illinois Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 14.—Efforts of the American Legion in Illinois were pledged to the assistance of state authorities in apprehending Leo Seisiek, former soldier and an acquaintance of Mrs. Arthur Haensel of Chicago, for whose murder her husband, Arthur Haensel, is now under sentence to hang. The help of the legion was offered by Attorney P. R. Davis of Chicago, who appeared before the state board of pardons and paroles today to request that execution of sentence against Haensel be deferred until Seisiek is apprehended. Davis urged that Seisiek might have been actuated by jealousy to kill the woman. He had threatened to kill her, he said, if she refused to marry him. She married Haensel, but left him. Haensel was convicted of killing her when she declined to return to him. Evidence introduced at the trial showed that Haensel wore civilian clothes on February 4, 1919, the day his wife was killed, but that neighbors had seen a man in uniform leave Mrs. Haensel's residence.

RELIEF WORK GOES ON DESPITE RED INVASION

Hoover Sends Orders to Workers in Poland to Stay at Posts Even if Bolshevik Control.

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 14.—American relief and anti-typhus administration workers in Poland, who are under the direction of Herbert C. Hoover, are ordered to remain at their posts and brave any invasion of the bolshevik armies in order that they may do all the good possible, it has been announced from Mr. Hoover's home here. Mr. Hoover stated that the two associations have millions of dollars worth of property in Poland and that he did not believe the bolsheviks would do bodily harm to the Americans engaged in this work and that they might be able to save this property for the benefit of the destitute and sick if they remained at their posts.

POLES SEE UNFAIRNESS IN RECENT PLEBISCITE

WARSAW, July 13 (by the Associated Press).—The plebiscite held in Allenstein, East Prussia, last Sunday resulted in a vote of 45,289 in favor of Germany as against 15,091 for Poland, according to figures received here. The small percentage of Polish votes is attributed by the Polish foreign office to alleged oppression by the Germans. The Poles formally protested to the interallied commission July 10 and previously, demanding a delay in the holding of the plebiscite. The Poles charge that the Germans used unfair methods in falsifying the voting lists and other documents. They also contend that Allenstein was constantly under German propaganda, the Germans using such methods in this respect that the Poles were not permitted to place their arguments freely before the people. In her protests Poland asserted that the results of the plebiscite should not be recognized, inasmuch as they were contrary to the spirit of the Versailles treaty.
